League, the best afternoon Telegraphic Association in the States.

MONDAY, NOV. 20, 1899.

That Felipe de los Angeles, is still at large.

Goebel and his gang should exercise great care while in Frankfort. They are very close to the penitentiary.

Macdonald is now the Memphis Commercial-Appeal speaks of Kentucky's very slippery leader. The name is not so inappropriate.

The great benefit the state secured in the defeat of Goebel will never be known as a positive fact, but it will be a blessing nevertheless.

If all the returns are in by that time, the state held of election con-missioners will begin their work Monday, Nov. 27, which will be a week from today.

The general part of the Democratic press of the state condemns in strong terms the Goebel idea of stealing the state. This is a fact which the Sun speaks of in justice to the "Protestant."

Just the political cast of the next legislature is yet a doubt, but it will not be a Goebel legislature. There is but one Goebel in the land and he can spread out over the legislature, thanks to honorable men.

Colonel R. M. Kelley is being mentioned for congress from the Louisville district. The colonel is one of the most worthy men in the metropolis and fully entitled to the endorsement of his party for any honorable position.

Just the day before the election

J. C. S. Blackburn said: "We will teach the Republicans of Kentucky a practical lesson in mathematics in the count of the ballots this year."

The practical lesson has not yet been taught, however.

An experiment with wireless telegraphy at Kentucky State College was a success. Instead of using current generated by a battery, as has always been done, Prof. F. Paul Anderson used a current from a dynamo, getting excellent results.

The Louisville Post clips liberally from the Courier-Journal's election predictions to show how ridiculous was much that was printed. This nature reads as follows: "We would our Mayor Lang's letters to the Times if reprinted just about now, but the Sun would spare its readers."

Election races in Louisville are to receive some airing in spite of the efforts of the Democrats to cover these fronts up. The federal court has already returned twenty indictments and there are more to follow. These cases will show who did the stealing of votes and who brought about the rascally election just held in the metropolis.

Chairman James K. Jones, of the Democratic National committee, declines the statement in a Washington dispatch last night that he has settled upon either Jan. 8 or Feb. 11 as the time for the national committee meeting. He says he has no idea yet as to when the meeting will be called and does not know whether the custom of meeting Feb. 22 will be departed from.

The Goebel press has had much to say in condemnation of the stay-at-home Democrats. Though these absent voters might have voted for Tayler or Brown—and it is just as reasonable to suppose this as to think that they are entitled to the thanks of the people rather than the abuse of any for not voting for the Kenton klug.

The Sun willingly grants this.

Just now the eyes of the nation are on Kentucky, and its attentive audience is intelligently appreciative of the true status of affairs that have thus brought her so prominently into public view. Upon this wisdom or unwisdom, the fairness or unfairness, of her conduct in this critical circumstance depends her well being at home and her well standing abroad.

The people should recognize the fact fully.

St. Louis is threatened with an epidemic of typhoid fever. The papers of the future Great are publishing long articles on the subject, to warn the people how to ward off the disease, how to treat it, etc. The fact that the disease is raging in the poorest parts of the city and not the shows has started the people and set the authorities to work. Considering the season St. Louis clearly has cause for alarm.

Major Henry Clay McDowell, of Lexington, died Saturday, of heart disease.

He was a noted horse raiser and a most popular and justly highly esteemed man. His wife was a grand-daughter of Gen. Henry Clay, for whom he was named, and he owned the old Clay home place. A few years since he discovered the state press gang while on a visit to Lexington in a most elu-gant way and the gang will regret his death and pay him due honor, for he has ever been kindly remembered by the fraternity. Peace to his ashes.

Honest Democrats since the development of the only plan by which it was possible that there could be man-

Observations

....at Random.

People who have a great deal of occult power seldom have any sense of consequence. The hypocrites and charlatans with such a supernatural display of atrocious ability never have money. They drift about from place to place, as a rule, and apparently never have anything. Most people, to profit by the example before them, would prefer more money and less occult power.

Most of it is a fake anyhow. Christian science is true only so far as the patient is able to overcome his imaginations. If he had a real disease a sore enough pain, or a genuine ache, all the Christian Science in the world wouldn't help him any more than it would help the man with a broken leg to walk with a sound limb. The disease must exist on its own in the imagination before the imagination alone can cure it.

The other day a distinguished looking man walked down Broadway. He looked as if he might be a high official. William Jennings Bryan or some other equally celebrated personage. He looked at everybody with a benign smile, and finally came down the street with a brown cravat and a velvet hat.

"Watch me sir," he said, "but I should like to ask you some questions." "What?" was the reply.

"Oh yes! And what kind of a question do you practice?"

"I don't practice any kind," was the prompt rejoinder, as he looked away and puffed heroically at the clear he wore in his face. "I cure by the laying on of hands. It's a gift with me, you see," he explained.

The inquisitive citizen passed on and the distinguished man went his way.

That night a well known physician was hurriedly summoned to the bed side of the aforesaid distinguished looking man. He had a cramp, and judging from the way he howled, it was a real one. It was one of the laying on of hands world not cure, and no one knew this better than the distinguished looking man himself. That is the reason he sent for the doctor, for cramps no not pleasant things. The doctor does practice by the laying on of hands, but uses genuine medicine from the drug store, and charges good, hard cash for it.

He gave the man with the wonderful laying-on-of-hands power a hy-pothecate, and his pain was soon assuaged. Before he left, the doctor did not fail to get the two silver dollars due him. There was a peculiar satisfaction pictured on his face as he pocketed the two "plunks," and left his distinguished looking patient. Moralizing that people with occult power ought not to have pains.

The development of the gubernatorial campaign since the election two weeks ago has been quite interesting. The official statements of the Goebel men have been intensely amusing.

First day after the election: "Goebel"

Yah, yah, we've beat 'em 10,000 votes.

Second day: Goebel's majority will be at least 15,000.

Third day: We'll beat 'em 8,000 votes, if not more.

Fourth day: We've got 'em beat 5,000 votes majority.

Fifth day: They're beat. We'll give 'em a fair count, though.

Sixth day: We'll make our majority bigger by throwing out illegal votes.

Seventh day: The Republicans are holding back so they can steal it.

Eighth day: We've got 'em beat.

We don't have to steal it. They'll get a fair count. Goebel ought to stand it to get even, though.

Ninth day: If they'd had a fair election we wouldn't have to throw out their votes.

Tenth day: They taught us to steal.

Eleventh day: We don't have to contest, but they ought to have acted fair.

Twelfth day: They called out the militia and intimidated us into voting the Republican ticket.

Thirteenth day: They stole it last time, but Goebel will be the next governor.

Fourteenth day: Yes we're going to stand it. What're they going to do about it?

Fifteenth day: In Grace Episcopal church there is a delightful novelty in the form of a vested choir composed of young ladies.

There are ten members of it at present, and they all wear robes and present a fine appearance. Every one of them is a good singer, and it is the first choir of this kind ever organized in Paducah, and perhaps the only one in the state. It has elicited many warm compliments from those who have heard it.

Paducah's merchants, as well as all other good citizens, should take a lively and substantial interest in the members of the proposed band. It will all be experienced musicians, and it is expected to make the organization one of which the city can justly feel proud.

The jury was finally discharged in the circuit court Saturday, after several weeks service. One remarkable feature of this term of court was that the jury decided every railroad suit against the railroad company. The largest verdict rendered was for $15, 000 in a case where an unfortunate railroad hand lost both legs as a result of an accident. At a previous term of court the jury rendered a verdict for $10,000. The disparity of verdicts indicates the fickleness of fortune—when dependent on the opinion of a modern jury, and that litigation is a lottery, to any the least.

NEW BIBLE CLASS.

A new circle for the study of the Bible is in process of organization. The object and purpose of this circle is to undertake the study of scripture from a non-dogmatic standpoint, without any reference to the religious prejudices and beliefs of the members. The Bible is to be studied along purely literary and historical lines. The desirability of the formation of such a class has been repeatedly intimated to Rabbi H. G. Ene by several ladies, non-members of his congregation, and he is now endeavoring to fulfill their wish, should a sufficient number of ladies, without distinction of denomination, join this class, the work will begin at once. Rabbi Ene will receive the names of applicants at 815 Jefferson street, whither they should be sent as soon as possible.

The Evansville Courier of Nov. 18th says: "Today while the government forces were engaged in leaving away the old castle near the Kentucky chute, by letting off a blast in order to explode the job, they succeeded in leaving away fully 200 yards of the old 'eye sore'." A 10-inch spike was tossed high in the air by the explosion and descending it pierced the roof of the steamer Falls City, lying at the foot of Fourth street, driving a hole through it, and falling upon the boiler deckman on the forward side. Pieces of rock fell at several places on the levee but with it all nobody was hurt. An officer was at once sent to ascertain the damage done the Falls City, and it was fully repaired Saturday.

Captain Burton backed the Bob Dobby out for Evansville this morning at 10 o'clock with a good trip.

The W. J. Cummings is due this morning from Tennessee river.

The Kuttawa, from Cumberland river, will report this evening and leave on return trip tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Waterways Journal of Nov. 18th says: "Captain Robert E. Barrett, of this city, closed a contract Tuesday with the Paducah Coal and Mining company to build for that concern six coal floats or fuel barges in 20 days. Although the order was taken on Tuesday, Captain Barrett received word from his saw mill and bargeyard at Leavenworth yesterday afternoon that one of the barges had been set up yesterday, and he anticipates no trouble in getting out all six of them in the limit of 20 days. The barges will be used by the Paducah Coal and Mining company for hauling standards at Moccasin. They are uniform in size, being 100 feet long, 20 feet beam and 7 feet deep. They will have decks 20 feet from the top. The Paducah company gets its coal from the Trade-water mines, near Caseyville, and, while it already does a large business hauling standards, it expects to greatly increase its trade within the next few months.

WORDS OF PRAISE.

For Because She Loved Him So Here Tomorrow Night.

The Memphis Commercial-Appal of Saturday has the following to say of "Because She Loved Him So," which appears at Morton's tomorrow night:

"Before one of the most fashionable actresses of the season 'Because She Loved Him So' was presented at the Lyceum theater last night. The theater was filled very nearly to its capacity. These were only three or four seats unoccupied, and the performance furnished great pleasure to those who were present.

"Because She Loved Him So" is a comedy, pleasing and improbable, and at the same time there is an element of naturalism about it which strikes with increasing force the more one is desirous of accepting more than the surface view of things.

The play was adapted for the American stage by William Gillette, a dramatist skilled in the craft, and a man who has done much for his profession. He has succeeded in putting together an admirable comedy and as presented at the Lyceum theater last night it was one of the best and most enjoyable events of the present season. The entire company is an excellent one and their performance wholly admirable."

RAM'S HORNS.

Sin served ruins, but sin revealed reforms.

Man is but a seed, and the grave his furrow.

Craven conduct makes a cross Christian.

Along the path of painful persistence we pass to perfection.

The best translation of the Bible, is its translation into life.

Man may hide from justice, but he cannot hide from himself.

It is the breath of heaven that makes fragrant the life of Christ.

Though but few walk the way of life, they can never be alone in it.

The way of life is narrow, because there is only one leader, Christ.

The Word of God is valuable except it lead to the God of the Word.

The truth in the Bible is God's revelation, in the Christian, His manifestation.

It is not necessary to hang up a code of home laws in the house where love is dwelling.

All human love is the reflection of the divine in the life of the upward looking man.

If we are going to sit together in heavenly places, we had better begin to stand together in the earthly ones.—Ram's Horn.
